Let us imagine you know nothing about antiques, you don’t even know how old an item must be to be called an ‘antique’.

That’s good news, very good news indeed, mainly because your lack of knowledge allows you to become an expert at valuing antiques while avoiding all the ambiguity and difference of opinion surrounding the value of most popular ‘antiques’.

It’s all of this confusion surrounding antiques that deters many people from entering the antiques business, and makes newcomers think it takes years of experience and knowledge to begin making regular profits from selling antiques on and off the Internet, including on eBay. Not so!

The fact is you don’t have to be able to recognise an antique, you don’t have to be able to value it, all you need is access to someone else who can genuinely value your items and won’t charge a fortune to do so!

Let me tell you how it’s done, using concepts that will help you make a very good living selling antiques on eBay!
