The Illumination: A Novel of the Great War (Humanitas Media Edition) K J Wetherholt
Synopsis: On the Western Front in 1918, during what was to have been the “war to end all wars,” three people meet at an Allied camp near Amiens. One English, one American, and one Irish, they forge a friendship which transcends nationality, surviving the harrowing nature of a war which would devastate an entire generation. What happens during those weeks and in its aftermath will shape not only the world, but also the lives of those who experienced it, demonstrating the truth inherent in all war, and that as soldiers of every age have experienced, war is not only fought without but within, and the macrocosm of a world in conflict also reflects an intrinsic war where each man and woman must find his and her own sense of peace. Release: Veterans Day/Armistice Day (November 11, 2012). Note: A portion of proceeds from The Illumination: A Novel of the Great War (2012) will go to war-related publishing, television, multi-media and film projects by the IIPFoundation/MIPJ: http://www.mipj.org.
